A Tribute to Judge W. C. Bell.

By unanimous consent Judge J. W. Alcorn was chosen as special judge and the following testimonial adopted and spread upon the records of the court:

Upon the voluntary retirement of Hon. W. C. Bell as circuit judge of the 13th judicial district of Kentucky, we, the members of the Lincoln county bar, offer to him and the constituency he has served, this expression of our personal and professional regard for him as a learned and upright judge, who, in the discharge of his official duties, has at all times exercised his authority with that dignity and courtesy becoming the gentleman of refined instinct, and who in the hearing and determination of all questions in controversy before him, has impartially, as a trained lawyer and scholarly judge, applied the maxims of equity and the rules of law.

As an endearing evidence of our appreciation of his worth, we deliver to his hand this declaration of our esteem, and cause a copy of the same to be spread upon the permanent records of this court.

J. W. Alcorn, M. C. Sautley, J. B. Paxton, P. M. McRoberts, J. S. Owens, Jr., Harvey Helm, J. N. Saunders, F. F. Bobbitt, W. S. Burch, G. B. Sautley, K. S. Alcorn, Thomas H. Shanks, W. H. Shanks, G. D. Florence, T. J. Hill, Jr.

Many Murders; Few Hangings.

We read a great deal of the murderous disposition of Kentuckians, but after all they are not much worse, if as bad, as other people. Even the State of William Penn has a county, Northumberland, which ranks second in the United States for murders, and first in the failure to punish them. In the last 150 years there have been 129 first degree murder verdicts and yet it will only have its fourth execution next Thursday, provided there should not intervene a reprieve in the meantime, a contingency that is not unlikely. Of the 129 sentences to death over half of the victims found refuge in the insane asylums, some were pardoned, others committed suicide and a number died in jail pending re-trials and long drawn out appeals. The 129 convictions with the death penalty represent but a small percentage of the homicides, many of the murderers having been acquitted and a large number getting second degrees and lesser verdicts. Kentucky has to take a back seat when comparisons are made with this Pennsylvania county.—Lexington Gazette.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infalible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. and $1, trial bottle free, guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store.

CRAB ORCHARD.

One of the most enjoyable socials of the season was given by Mr. Ed White, of Cedar Creek, in honor of his friend, Charles Snyder, of Louisville, Monday night. Besides all the pretty girls of Cedar Creek were Misses Mary Maupin, of Richmond, Fannie Thompson, Katherine Melvin and Anna Wilson, of Preachersville, Miss Anna Chancellor, of Walnut Flat, Ila Newland, of Indiana, and Mr. Charles Snyder, of Louisville. Delicious fruits were served and all the latest games played and the young folks are loud in praising Ed as host and entertainer and look forward to more socials at his hospitable home.

Mr. David Newland and family have gone to housekeeping near the depot. Mr. Charles Snyder, of Louisville, is spending a few days with friends here. Mrs. Sallie Pennington has rented her farm to Mr. Hamilton, of Oklahoma, and will leave for that State soon to visit her daughter, Mrs. E. O. Singleton. Mrs. Monroe Curtis, of Stanford, paid a short visit to her many friends here this week. Mrs. Will Curtis has been quite sick but is better. Mrs. Barker, who has been so sick, is improving at the home of her son, Pate King. Rev. Walter Buchanan, of Louisville, is with his family at W. K. Buchanan's and has preached four interesting sermons at Hebron. He is quite a promising young minister of the Methodist church. Mrs. Robt. Collier has returned from a visit to Brodhead friends. Mr. Davis, of Knoxville, is visiting the family of Charles Garner.
